Located in Suffolk County on Long Island, Castello di Borghese is Long Island's first vineyard. Dedicated to delivering elegant, nuanced, Bordeaux-style wine. With a microclimate comparable to the Bordeaux region of France, the East End of Long Island provides a lush environment to grow some of the world's best French grape varietals. They prune, pick, bottle, cork, label and distribute every bottle of wine by hand. A part of the North Fork Wine Trail, visit the winery for a CSA, wine tasting, and tours.
